usually the state board of law examiners in your state will keep old exam on file and provide copies for a fee. Or you can go to the LSAC/LSDAS service and they maintain copies of old exams as well, also for a small fee per exam.

I think the moderators wrote the sample one on this site. I cant believe that past essays are not published. I think everyone would buy them

I got some samples from the state bar in my state. It do not cost much and they were kind of helpful.
