If you want them free, you can also find a few on the internet, not many. You can contact your state bar and for a fee, they will provide you with an old exam and answers. You can go to the book store, they always have books filled with them. Or you can contact bar bri and they can provide you with such materials, but, again, at a fee. Or, you can find a third year at your school and see if they are willing to share the materials they have from bar bri, or whoever they are using-if you just looking to get some samples these are the places you will find them. Thanks.
