
Hand Scoring the LSAT

Posted by Blkcrystal - 2009/09/23 20:52

I was reading the LSDAS application and i noticed that you can have your LSAT hand scored. Does anyone plan on having their test hand scored? If so, how does that process work? Does it cost more, etc? WHY would anyone request handscoring>?

=====

Re:Hand Scoring the LSAT

Posted by B Line - 2009/09/29 21:55

Seems to me that hand scoring could lead to human error.....not in your favor. I cant imagine that an electronic grader would artificially sabotage your score. Why pay for it?

=====

Re:Hand Scoring the LSAT

Posted by Blycrystal - 2009/10/01 21:45

The reason for the hand scoring is that if you erase and remark your grid sheet, the electronic grader may miss-score your answer sheet.

=====