

---

accountant misconduct

Posted by GelRon - 2010/09/21 22:38

---

Where do you report misfeasance for unlicensed tax and accounting professionals? If they are not licensed, is there any oversight board for tax preparers?

=====

Re:accountant misconduct

Posted by et non - 2010/09/27 22:10

---

If the accountant is not certified by the state, then you need to report the misfeasance to the better business bureau or if the misfeasance has risen to the level of fraud or is criminal, then refer to the attorney general's office in that state.

=====

Re:accountant misconduct

Posted by Jacob - 2010/09/30 00:16

---

While i dont know how you report an unlicensed tax preparer, i wanted to mention that the IRS is now charging tax preparers a fee to keep their EFIN number. The EFIN number is the identification number to track preparers. This is in response to the number of unlicensed preparers which are helping taxpayers prepare false tax returns.

=====

Re:accountant misconduct

Posted by legalmaster - 2010/11/27 01:06

---

I have also some problems.I worked in a bank. where i got some bonus in my bank account.that was not attached with my salary.After then i have not got the money.I was told i never got it cz i left my job.
What can i do now?

Tax accountant Charlotte NC

=====