
Getting out

Posted by ai1829 - 2011/11/10 10:18

What is the attrition rate or drop-out rate of those in top 50 law schools. Just wondering how many flunk out or drop out as they decided not to continue with law school for personal reasons. I searched then net and couldnt find any good stats.

=====

Re:Getting out

Posted by Lex - 2011/11/30 19:19

Not sure that there are formal studies on that subject. I would imagine that teh drop out rate is higher in teh bottom tier law schools because those bottom tier law schools take on more marginal applicants and those marginal students may not make it through the first year like the qualfiied students in a T20 law school.

=====

Re:Getting out

Posted by Francis - 2012/01/04 19:28

Whats worse, is those that graduate law school from bottom tier law schools and cant find jobs. With $150k of law school debt and likely another $75k in undergrad debt, how do those attorney without jobs pay off that debt? Seems like they are further behind than further ahead.

=====